Description : Description du produit"Rumor has it a certain notorious Princess has not a feather to fly and is looking for a gentleman to ease her financial worries. Perhaps the Earl of S. is the man she seeks . . ."-- The Gentleman's Mercury, 1816 Lady Isabella never imagined it could come to this. Bad enough she faces imprisonment for debts not her own. Even worse that she must make a hasty marriage of convenience with Marcus, the Earl of Stockbridge -- the man she'd loved and lost so long ago. But that he now wants revenge by demanding she be his in more than name only . . . well, that is simply intolerable! As the London gossips eagerly gather to watch the fun, Isabella struggles to maintain a polite distance in her marriage. But the more Isabella challenges Marcus's iron determination, the hotter their passion burns. This time, will it consume them both -- or fuel a love greater than they dare dream?

But the more Isabella challenges Marcus's iron determination, the hotter their passion burns. This time, will it consume them both or fuel a love greater than they dare dream?

Booklist Princess Isabella Di Cassilis had come to Fleet Prison looking for a man. After her late husband left her with considerable outstanding debts and no money to pay them, Isabella finds she has three options: marriage, exile, or debtor's prison. In order to avoid a future behind bars, Isabella needs to find a man already in jail for debt, since after marrying Isabella all of her financial obligations would become his responsibility. The one problem with Isabella's plan is that when she meets her husband-to-be, John Ellis, she discovers he just happens to be Marcus Stockhaven, the Earl of Stockbridge, and the very same man Isabella left standing at the altar 12 years earlier. With a wicked sense of wit, a dash of dangerous intrigue, and a generous measure of sizzling sexual chemistry, Cornick puts her own clever twist on the classic marriage-of-convenience plot and creates a superbly entertaining -Regency-era historical romance.
